

Mini Brand Guidelines

Welcome to our mini brand guidelines.

These mini guidelines are here to help keep all our company communications consistent and on-brand. In this easy-to-follow guide, you'll find everything you need to know about using our logo, typefaces, colors, and layout.

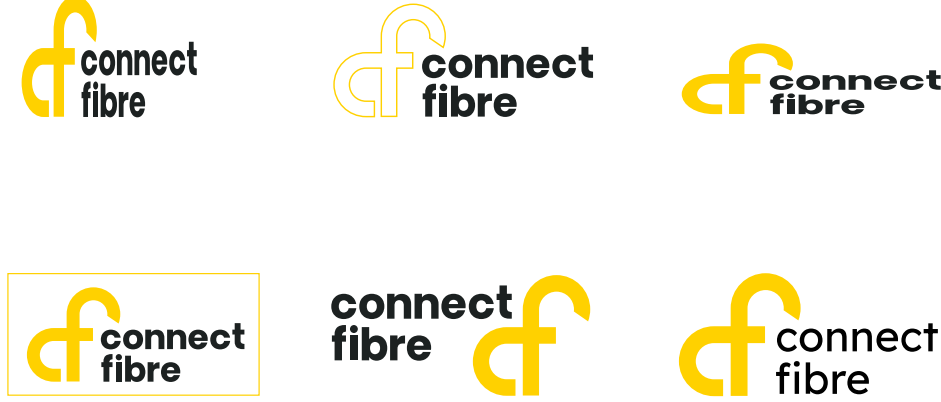

It's designed to help you get to know the Connect Fibre brand, what it stands for, and how to present it in the best possible way.

Consistency in our branding is key because it helps people recognise and trust us. When we use our brand elements consistently, it creates a cohesive and professional image that reinforces who we are and why people should choose Connect Fibre.

Using the Logo and Strapline together

Footer example where strapline and logo can have the same prominence. Strapline must appear to left so it is read before the logo.

Please don't stretch or distort the logo in any way. Don't outline the logo, move any elements within the logo, draw a box round the logo or change the weight of the text.

Our Logo

Primary

With Strapline

Do not use below minimum width of 35mm (print) or 100px (digital) or if space is an issue.

Without Strapline

Use when strapline is too small to use at minimum size or when we have space to give equal prominence to logo and strapline. Do not use below 20mm for print or 70px for digital useage.

Secondary

With Strapline

Do not use below minimum width of 35mm or 100px or when there is little depth available.

Without Strapline

Use when strapline is too small to use at minimum size of 20mm/70px.

Tertiary

With Strapline

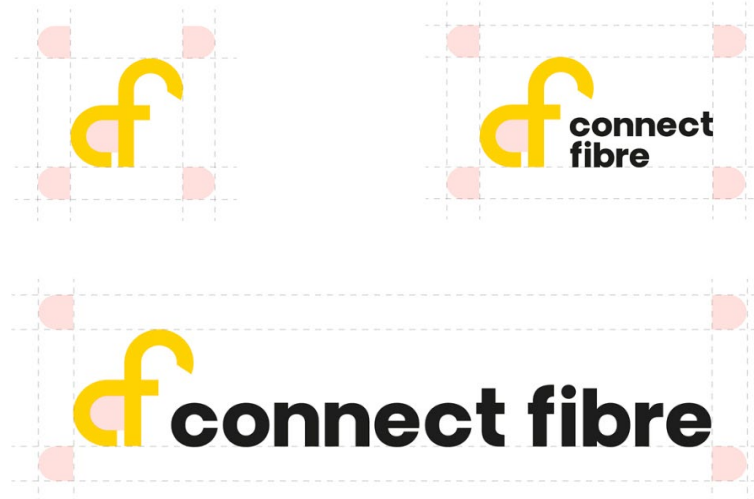

For use on merchandise such as water bottles or T-shirts. Do not use below minimum width of 35mm.

Without Strapline

Use when strapline is too small to use at minimum size or on merchandise such as caps and hoodies. Do not use below minimum size of 20mm.

The technical make up of any of these logo variations are all set to strict proportions and should not be adjusted. Our logo is a protected object, no graphics, other brands should appear close to it or behind it. Please keep items outside the exclusion zone, as seen below.

Strapline

Our company strapline is presented in two orientations for best use in each circumstance. It is important to note that we must not simply "type" this in Poppins. Please use the files supplied when using this strapline. An area of exclusion should be used in order not to impair the text. This is taken from the x height.

Backgrounds

The Connect Fibre logo should only be used in this way to prevent it's legibility being impaired. In most cases, only black and yellow should be used, as these are our primary brand colours. The black should be used on light backgrounds and yellow should be used for dark backgrounds. When using the supporting palette - if in doubt? Use this rule: If it looks hard to see, then it probably is. These rules also apply to both the Connect Fibre Icon and the strapline.

Typography

The Connect Fibre brand use two fonts for all communications, on web and in print. We're not strict with adding display type to the mix, but make sure it fits the purpose and we keep the principles set out here consistent.

Primary Font

Poppins Medium

Use this in title or headlines.

Secondary Font

Nunito Sans Regular

Use this in body copy.

Rules for Copy

- Use sentence case in headlines and sub-headers.
- Don't use capitals in the middle of sentences e.g. broadband and service shouldn't be capitalised.
- Don't put full stops on headlines, sub-headlines or bullet points. Only in body copy.
- Align copy left, never centred.
- Use contractions to keep our tone conversational.

- Keep it active – whether it's you or us, there should always be someone doing the thing we're talking about.
- Write numbers zero to nine like this: one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine.
- And numbers from 10 upwards like this: 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20.
- Write Wi-Fi like this. Not WiFi, WIFI, WI-FI, wifi or wi-fi.
- 1000Mbps not 1000 Mbps or 1000mbps.
- Add-on not addon or add on.
